

Enagás retains place in Dow Jones Sustainability Index for fifth year running

- Named sector leader in the economic dimension

Enagás has retained its place in the Dow Jones Sustainability Index (DJSI – the global benchmark for sustainability) for the fifth year running. In the latest edition of the index, announced today, the company obtained the top score in its sector –Gas Distribution– in the economic dimension, in recognition of its commitment to incorporate best management practices with regard to sustainability and risk control.

Enagás is one of 17 Spanish companies in the index, which this year comprises 340 companies worldwide.

These results further acknowledge the company's pledge to sustainability and bolster the commitments included in its recently-updated CSR Strategy (Visión 2020).

The DJSI World Index annually reviews management at the 2,500 largest companies in the world and, following rigorous analysis, selects just 10% on the basis of economic, environmental and social criteria.

This index constitutes a key tool for compiling socially-responsible investment portfolios for investors throughout the world, as it groups together the leading sustainability-driven companies worldwide based on globally-recognised standards.
