

Enagás, worldwide leader as the most sustainable company in its sector according to the Global 100 index

- The company is sixth in the overall ranking

Enagás has managed to reach sixth position of the 2016 Global 100 Most Sustainable Corporations in the World, presented today by the agency Corporate Knights. The company, one of the two Spanish companies in this year's review, improved its ranking, up from 19th in 2015 to sixth in 2016. Furthermore, the company continues to be recognised as a leading worldwide company in the Gas Utilities sector according to this index.

In compiling this ranking, Corporate Knights has assessed all listed companies with market capitalisation of at least US$2 billion and has identified the 100 most sustainable businesses. In doing this it has considered 12 indicators related to aspects concerning the environment, capacity for innovation, safety, management of staff and remuneration of management.

In 2013 and 2015 Enagás was also recognised as one of the 100 most sustainable companies, worldwide leader in the Gas Utilities sector and the leading Spanish company.

Sustainability is one of the four strategic pillars of Enagás. The company boasts a presence on the leading sustainability indexes, including the prestigious Dow Jones Sustainability Index (DJSI).
