

Auction of additional underground storage capacity november

The operators of the underground storages have reported an additional storage capacity in the UGS of their property, with the possibility of being injected during the month of November.

Furthermore the System has a high stock level in LNG tanks.

Based on the above, under the Capítulo II of the Resolución de 30 de marzo de 2017, de la Secretaría de Estado de Energía, and given that it is not possible to offer individual storage, injection or withdrawal products, it is appropriate to put at disposal of the users an associated storage, injection and withdrawal capacity firm product for the month of November, in order to perform an additional injection by the users that may need it during the aforementioned month.

The properties and the allocation procedure of this product will be:

- Allocation date: Tuesday 22th of October at 11:00h.
- Allocation procedure: auction under the same conditions of the ones usually held for the associated product, according to the current legislation.
- Product duration: month of November.
- Available storage capacity: 1.200 GWh.
- Withdrawal capacity associated rights: 0 GWh/day.
- Injection capacity associated rights: 40 GWh/day, to be allocated to the awardees, in proportion to the booked capacity of this product.

The storage in UGS monthly auction of November with withdrawal capacity associated right, will be held on Monday 21th of October at 09:00h, as intended.

Users with associated capacity booked in the previous allocation processes, will not be affected neither in the technical withdrawal capacity, nor in the withdrawal capacity associated rights.

During the early days of November, depending on the capacity, allocation and use of the underground storages, the available capacities to be booked in the month of December will be announced by this means and in advance.
